

Harmony supports mine communities: Sponsors Easter Sports Tournaments

At Harmony, we believe that young people are the corner stone of our society because they represent the future. We are delighted to sponsor the Easter weekend soccer tournaments in these mine communities, because sport not only has the ability to groom young people, but it keeps them engaged and thus, off the streets.

At Harmony, we talk about ‘Mining with Purpose’.

This means that our activities and the way we conduct our business must create and preserve shared value for our employees, our mine communities, and the environment.

Our aim is to partner with our stakeholders to create a mutually beneficial environment with shared value.

The Sports Tournaments were hosted in Harmony’s local mine communities over the two Easter long weekends at:

- Khutsong - Elijah Barayi sports grounds in the Merafong Municipality
- Lufhereng - Green Village ground in the City of Johannesburg Municipality
- Swanneville - Swanneville grounds in the Mogale City Municipality

A total of R0.5 million was invested in these Easter games.

The winning teams not only walked away with bragging rights of being tournament champions, but also won soccer kits, medals, trophies and other sports hampers.

In addition, the tournaments give players exposure to an even broader audience and the opportunity to be scouted and hopefully play in the professional league one day.

At Harmony, Responsible Stewardship is one of our strategic pillars and this means that Harmony has been involved in multiple community upliftment and CSI projects, which it has handed over to several host communities over the years. We are committed to continue to do so, as we firmly believe that our presence in any community must have impact at all levels.

We are also proud of the strides we have made to benefit local businesses through our preferential procurement strategy aimed at empowering black-owned business, youth-owned and women-owned businesses.

The support we receive from community members who attend the games is not only encouraging, but also shows that communities are engaged and indeed interested in local development programmes.

Harmony further encourages the community to regularly participate in sporting activities themselves, to keep fit and healthy.
